MEMORANDUM FOR: GENERAL WILSON
DEPUTY TO THE DCI FOR THE INTELLIGENCE COMMUNITY

SUBJECT: IRAC Subcommittees and Study Groups

In Bill Hyland's absence, I am responding to the DCI's request, made at the IRAC meeting last week, for views on the question of establishing additional interagency groups in support of IRAC.

INR recommends against any new standing groups. We believe that the IRAC Working Group, the IRAC R&D Council, and various other community committees (such as the SIGINT Committee, COMIREX, and the Human Sources Committee) should be able to take care of IRAC's need for support from permanent groups.

We also recommend that before a decision is made to organize any ad hoc study committees, the IRAC Working Group should prepare for IRAC consideration (1) a report on the status of resources studies currently underway or recently completed, and (2) recommendations as to whether any new ad hoc study groups should be set up or whether any new study tasks should be given to the SIGINT Committee, COMIREX or other standing committees.
